EngineerMENTOR returns

The next electronic version of PEO's EngineerMENTOR newsletter will be posted on the PEO website in early October.

Noreen Calderbank, P.Eng., PEO's Engineering Internship Training (EIT) program manager, says the re-vamped newsletter will cover news of developments at PEO as well as information relevant to professional engineers, with a particular emphasis on topics of interest to engineering interns. Regular columns will provide news from Council and the chapters. As well, experienced senior P.Eng.s will provide insight into areas of interest to interns.

According to Margaret Walcott, PEO's EIT administrative assistant, one exciting new idea is the "Dear Mentor" column. Interns will be able to send in questions and concerns, and have the responses published in future issues. As well, interns can participate by contributing to case studies and career features.

EngineerMENTOR, PEO's EIT Newsletter, is made available to individuals registered in PEO's Engineering Internship Training (EIT) Program. The newsletter is intended to provide engineering interns with information related to topics of general interest to interns, interpretation of PEO's experience and other licensure requirements, ethical issues, employer-sponsored internship/mentorship programs and unusual careers.

For information about EngineerMENTOR and enrolling in PEO's EIT program, send an email to: eit@peo.on.ca

EITs, in order to reach you with timely material and information, please send an email showing your current email address (one that you check at least once a week) to eit@peo.on.ca.
