Working in the consulting engineering industry has helped me to develop a strong ability to communicate effectively in project teams, find common ground, and build consensus to arrive at optimal solutions.

The field of engineering has changed significantly since the inception of the PEO on June 14, 1922. The one-hundredth anniversary of this organization is a time to continue to look forward and implement changes so that PEO can support its members, to serve and protect the public interest by setting and upholding high academic standards, experience, and professional practice standards for the engineering profession. I am committed to improving PEO so that the organization can effectively serve engineers who can in turn serve the public, this can be done by supporting the modernization process and continuing to implement the recommendations outlined in the Governance Roadmap.

Engineering can transform society, and we can and should be proud of our profession. I decided to get involved because I am inspired by the engineers around me and want to contribute to helping PEO transform itself. Do take the time to get to know the candidates and make your vote count!
